ODD KLONDIKE SLED A MONEY-MAKER

PLAN LAID BEFORE LOCAL BUSINESS MEN.

Secretary Giles of the Alaska Company Says The Line Will be In Operation By Jan 15 and That Freight Is Offered at One Dollar a Pound.

Edgar B. Giles, the secretary of the Alaska company, of which mention was made in the Gazette a few days ago is stopping at the Hotel Myers. He is here for a few days in consultation with I. C. Brownell who is a director of the company.

The company which Mr. Giles represents is the owner of the Coniff patents on a steam sled, which they propose to operate upon the lakes and rivers of that country this coming winter and which will not only bring them large returns on their investment but will be a relief measure for furnishing supplies to the thousands now buried in that country.

Was Invented by Wisconsin Men.

The steam sled was devised for the hauling of logs in Wisconsin forests. The great need of transportation facilities in Alaska seven months out of the year, suggested its use there. Mr. Giles says that the attention of some Chicago gentlemen was first called to the invention by R. W. Gilkey and E. L. Kendall, formerly of Green Bay, Wis., and they have been quietly at work for several months gathering data as to existing conditions, new obstacles to be overcome in Alaska, and making a thorough search through all reliable sources of information, both governmental and otherwise, investigating and experimenting with motive powers, and finally so thoroughly satisfying themselves that the enterprise was bound to be successful that they are now letting contracts and beginning the construction of their first trains and unless some unforeseen obstacle comes up, will be running the same upon the waterways of Alaska by the 15th of January next.

Strange Looking Train
The first casual glance at the drawings of the steam motor is apt to give one the impression that it is impracticable and beyond the possibilities of achieving the results expected from it, but a more careful investigation soon satisfies the most skeptical that the claims of this company are well founded and that they have undoubtedly solved the transportation question in the frozen north.

The locomotive and cars rest on runners particularly adapted for that kind of work and the propelling power is two high pressure engines which operate two large drive wheels standing eight feet high and are six inches wide, made out of wrought steel and weighing about six tons each. Each drive wheel plays on an independent axle and is driven by a separate engine, thus materially aiding in steering the locomotive. The freight cars have a capacity of ten tons each and the passenger coaches will carry comfortably about fifty people to the car and are being built much after the style of the tourists' sleepers now operated between Chicago and the Pacific coast by most railroad lines.

Train Built in Chicago.
The first train is being built in Chicago so that eastern capitalists may see it. The boilers were ordered yesterday. The promoters have already had application for more freight than they could possibly handle this winter—no matter how large their resources might be—one company offering them all the freight they would haul at $1 a pound from ocean ports to Dawson City, which with the locomotive hauling five cars of ten tons each would mean $100,000 for a trip occupying about ten days.

While these figures seem almost incredible, a glance at current prices existing at the present time in the Klondike as shown by Mr. Giles, suggests that even at that price there would be a handsome profit left in the merchandise business.

War Department Interested
Secretary R. A. Alger of the war department, has been searching in every direction for the imprisoned miners with food. Wisconsin inventors seem to have solved the problem and been capable of interesting capital, composed largely of Wisconsin men.

Mr. Giles expects to be in our city but a day or two and while he is, at such times as he has leisure at the hotel, he will give any information that he can from the almost inexhaustible data gathered by the company.

LATE NEWS FROM ALASKA

Short and Interesting Clippings From the The Klondike Sunday Morning Lyre

Our esteemed townsman, Bud Gravel, placed upon our desk yesterday a handsomely shaped nugget. It weighed 200 pounds. We have credited him with three months' subscription to the Lyre. We are pleased to see that Mr. Gravel, who is one of our best citizens, is doing well. He is one of a syndicate who expect to buy a quart of whisky next Saturday night.

The high wind yesterday raised considerable dust. Jake Luckenbill, who was out on the Eldorado road with his team, says he was nearly blinded by it. When he came home he coughed up $873.89. One of our greatest needs is street sprinkling.

While Ike Sigman, the esteemed proprietor of the Big Strike saloon, was fishing in the river yesterday, his boat struck a snag; it proved to be a 600 pound nugget. He will have it taken out and will use it as a horse block in front of his place. Ike is always bound to have the best that is going. Bill Jacobs made a pretty good strike on the Little Juniper this week. He struck plenty of gold at a depth of three feet, but as the lumps were too big to carry, he closed up the hole and has staked another claim further up the creek.—Klondike Sunday Lyre.

IMPERIALS ARE OUT ON THEIR CONCERT

EXCELLENT MUSICAL ATTRACTION NOT APPRECIATED.

On the Maximilian Dick Engagement Failed to Pay Expenses—Had Hoped to Provide Means For Winter's Work—Forty Dollars Was Needed.

A concert of unusual excellence received but indifferent support last evening. Not often is such a violinist as Maximilian Dick, a singer having the charm of Miss Isabel Bratnover and a pianist with the technical skill and the sympathetic appreciation of Miss Georgiella Lay heard in the city. They should have been greeted by a crowded house. In place of that the box office receipts were $125 and the expenses of the concert $135. The Imperial band under whose auspices the concert was given is left with a $10 deficit in place of the cash surplus which was relied upon to carry the band through the winter. The needs of the band are not large—the expenses of the winter do not run more than $40—but the money is urgently needed.

However the concert may have resulted financially its artistic merits will be long remembered. Mr. Dick, who was for four years solo violinist in the Ellen Beach Yaw Concert Company, combines feeling and power in a rare degree, charming as completely in Vieuxtemps' polonaise as he impressed by his "Faust Fantaisie," by Sarasate. His exquisite sympathy was demonstrated in his violin obligation to Miss Bratnover's solo, "One Spring Morning."

Miss Bratnover's singing is remarkable equally for its technical perfection and for the felicity of expression.

A new style of dancing is very cleverly performed by the Sisters Gehrue in Charles E. Blaney's "A Boy Wanted" Co. They dance to what is known as "rag time" music, and the time they keep with their feet is considered marvelous; it recalls the name of the late Charles Queen, who was in his day the champion dancer of the world. These ladies dance the triple execution with the same ease and grace that made the name of Queen famous all over the world.

It is hard to say in which she was most appreciated, the page's song from "Romeo and Juliet," or the group of folk songs which began with "Polly Willis," a characteristic old English ballad dating back to 1740.

Miss Lay's numbers were Moszkowski's "Valse in A," Grieg's "A: Springtime" and Liszt's "Intermezzo" in octaves. So feelingly did she express the spirit of spring in her second number that the audience persisted in their applause until they won from her a response.

The Imperial band was heard in three numbers and in spite of their comparative lack of experience in concert work made a very favorable impression. Dalbey's variations on "Old Kentucky Home" was one of the hits of the evening and the band was forced to respond to an encore.

When it was announced some months since that Dr. W. A. Shepard of Elgin, Ill., had discovered a means of curing Pulmonary Tuberculosis, it was looked upon with much doubt by those who had been educated to believe the disease to be an incurable one. Not knowing that the experimental stage had been passed, and that a large number of cases had been cured by the Doctor right in Elgin their doubt was not without foundation, but subsequent investigation by physicians and others has disclosed the fact that the Doctor has cured within the last eight years, a large number of cases in Elgin as well as other parts of the country, and that the large number of cases (nearly 200) now under treatment, the large majority are making marked improvement and quite a number have so improved that they will soon be discharged cured. The Doctor says that he does not claim to cure all cases of consumption, but that all cases in the first stage and a large per cent. of those in the second stage can be cured.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH.

A Pleasant, Simple, But Safe and Effectual Cure for It.

Catarrh of the stomach has long been considered the next thing to incurable. The usual symptoms are a full or bloating sensation after eating, accompanied sometimes with sour or watery risings, a formation of gases, causing pressure on the heart and lungs and difficult breathing; headaches, sickle appetite, nervousness and a general played out, languid feeling.

There is often a foul taste in the mouth, coated tongue and if the interior of the stomach could be seen it would show a slimy, inflamed condition.

The cure for this common and obstinate trouble is found in a treatment which causes the food to be readily, thoroughly digested before it has time to ferment and irritate the delicate mucous surfaces of the stomach. To secure a prompt and healthy digestion is the one necessary thing to do and when normal digestion is secured the catarrhal condition will have disappeared.

According to Dr. Harlan the safest and best treatment is to use after each meal a tablet, composed of Diastase, Ascepic Pepsin, a little Nux, Golden Seal and fruit acids. These tablets can now be found at all drug stores under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and not being a patent medicine can be used with perfect safety and assurance that healthy appetite and thorough digestion will follow their regular use after meals.

Mr. N. J. Booher, of 2710 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill., writes: "Catarrh is a local condition resulting from a neglected cold in the head, whereby the lining membrane of the nose becomes inflamed and the poisonous discharge therefrom passing backward into the throat reaches the stomach, thus producing catarrh of the stomach. Medical authorities prescribed for me for three years for catarrh of stomach without cure, but today I am the happiest of men after using only one box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I cannot find appropriate words to express my good feeling. I have found flesh, appetite and sound rest from their use."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest preparation as well as the simplest and most convenient Tablets for any form of indigestion, catarrh of stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, heartburn and bloating after meals.

Send for little book, mailed free, on stomach troubles, by addressing Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich. The tablets can be found at all drug stores.

WITH THE YARDMASTER.

LAST night I wanted to hear Maximilian Dick, but just how to get into the Opera house was a puzzle. I could not buy a ticket on account of my inability to realize on securities—that's the same excuse all of the "busted" banks had in 1893—so I thought I would have a talk with the doorkeeper. I found George Luce at the door. I asked him what his views were on the restoration of confidence.

"I don't know" he said "I have never thought much about it." Then I told him what a great thing it would be if every body could place confidence in each other how soon we would be satisfied that there was no such a thing as coercion in elections, demagoguery, sophistry and subsidizing the press."

After I had talked to him ten minutes he was so taken with my views that I got into his confidence for a ticket and walked into the show.

Even though Mr. Dick has put in his whole life learning to play the violin, there were many in the audience last night who did not know when to give him the glad hand. When he played the ballade and polonaise by Vieuxtemps, it seemed to some of the audience that he would soon drop his bow, and finish up the tune with a lead pipe, or a stick of stove wood or anything to get that fiddle out of its misery, as those tones were signs of distress. When the last sweet note died away, a party seated near me, said to his friend:

"I'll bet you a doughnut to a shock of fodder that that feller don't play another chune 'till he gets a cleet er two put on his fiddle."

"Say," he continued, "do you ricklect old Seth? He played for dances 'round Johnstown for more'n fifteen years, in the old stage house days and he could knock the government yarn socks off'n this feller fiddlin'. And you didn't have to pay ter hear, nuther. Now when this man comes out agin, ef he'll just play the 'Fisher's Hornpipe' er the 'Chicken in the Bread Tray,' er 'Soap Suds Over the Fence,' er 'Cotton Eyed Joe,' then I reckon we'll have our money's worth."

Mr. Dick showed the Yardmaster some press comments later in the evening. One was from a paper in a little town in Georgia, and read as follows:

"The concert given in the West opera house last night, by the Maximilian Dick Company, was the warmest that ever lit a town. As a violinist, Mr. Dick is a peach. While he was seemingly trying to scrape all the strings into shreds, the audience sat transfixed."

Another paper in Missouri, says: "We have heard violinists and we have heard fiddlers, but the Dick Concert Company at the Windsor opera house last night took the cake. Mr. Dick can get more music out of a fiddle than any man that ever came down the pike. He tears his fiddle up shamefully, but he makes it throw up music in any language."

When Alexander the Great grew up to be a man, he was very conservative. He had but two or three confidential friends. One day in the town of Thessalonica, Alexander met an old chum whose name was Clitus. They dropped into a brewery to talk over good government and the purity of Thessalonian beer. After they had sampled the beer and the Macedonian cheese, Clitus said:

"Alex., do you know that your father, King Phillip, has killed more men than any king that ever lived."

Thereupon Alexander became enraged, and told Clitus to come off the roof. One word brought on another, and at last Alexander pulled a white handle razor from his boot leg, and cut Clitus up into dog meat. Later on Alexander met his bousom friend Hephestian. He told him that he was going to India to kill off a few thousand men, then he would return. Hephestian fell through the sidewalk and broke his leg. He sued the city for twenty thousand dollars, and got it. It was not until then, that the city council took action, and had all the sidewalks repaired. But from the effects of the broken limb, Hephestian died. When Alexander returned from India, and learned of his friends death, he was broken hearted. He fell on his face, and refused to take any nourishment. A few days later he died of grief. And today the sidewalks of Janesville stand as his monument.

PRESS WOODRUFF.

Chilkoot Pass Is Best.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 3.—Minister of the Interior Sifton, who has been investigating the different routes into Yukon, arrived here last night from Dyea on the Dominion steamer Quadra.

Mr. Sifton is of the opinion that the Chilkoot pass is better than the White. Regarding reports of starvation at Dawson City, Mr. Sifton stated that his latest advices were to the effect that there would be enough provisions to last until spring. Maj. Walsh, the administrator of the Yukon, who is now on his way, will on his arrival here, make a report to the Dominion government on the situation and the necessity of the government sending in provisions. The Quadra brought down meager details of some more rich strikes on the creeks near Dawson City.

MAYOR SMILES ON PALMER.

The Two City Officials Meet and Smoke Pipe of Peace.

Last evening at 7:30 Mayor Thoroughgood and Street Commissioner Palmer accidentally met on West Milwaukee street, smiled, shook hands and made up.

It was their first meeting since the little "free for all" at the council meeting.

Consequently the by-standers watched with lively interest.

Mayor Thoroughgood, after extending his hand to Street Commissioner Palmer, assured him that he meant nothing serious and that the papers had made it a little too strong.

After a five minutes' indulgence in mutual felicitations that sounded very different from the discharge of fireworks Monday night they smoked the pipe of peace and parted.

Mayor Thoroughgood suggested that the street commissioner give notice today to the parties who have already been notified. If the new walks or repairs ordered are not made within forty-eight hours after being notified the city will proceed to do the work and it will be charged against the property.

Street Commissioner Palmer opened fire on the delinquents this morning at nine o'clock. He found plenty of walks in the Third ward that needed attention. There were protests from several property owners among others from the representatives of I. C. Sloan who is ordered to lay a walk in front of his four lots on Racine street where no walk has ever been built.

Bread and Butter Worries

Those who are born rich are saved from that incessant bread-and-butter worry that tries the souls of mankind. Comparatively few of us, however, are exempt from the worries that haunt the daily life struggle, and in consequence the most useful lives are generally the ones marked for nervous collapse. We cannot give up, our families must be provided for, but what are they going to do when we do give up? Under this strain of constant effort of mind and body no one can continue indefinitely unscathed and multitudes of half-broken down men and women surround us. They have consulted their doctors without securing aid, and they work along as they can in an aimless sort of way that seems to be without hope of relief. All of such worn-out, spiritless people can be cured and put quickly on their feet by Dr. Greene's grand medicine, the discoverer of the world-famed Nervura, and many other wonderful remedies that cure the ills of men and women.

Consultation and advice of the most skilled physicians are at your service without charge at the office of Dr. Greene's remedies, 148 State St., Chicago, Ill., whether you call or write about your case, and this advice, which means health to you, can be had for the asking.

The closest attention is given to letter correspondence, your description of your case being instantly intelligible to an experienced physician. If you are ill, write and be well.

THE CURRENT OF TRADE.

That was a "cold bluff" that our foreign friends were working on us when they insisted during the consideration of the Dingley tariff bill that its adoption would force them to exclude our merchandise in retaliation.

The exports of grain and manufactured articles go on just the same as before, increasing rather than decreasing, and none of the nations which threatened such terrible things as a result of our protective tariff have reduced their demand or shown any serious disposition to cut off the supply of our products which they were purchasing from month to month before the adoption of the Dingley law.

WHO WAS TO BLAME?

There were republican votes enough in New York to have defeated Tammany, but Seth Lo... and his friends would not have it that way. They refused to abide by the action of any convention, demanded that the regular organization step aside for their impromptu committee and held so positively to the rule or ruin idea that no effective campaign against the Croker forces was possible. They have turned New York over to the bobbies and ringsters of the wigwag and cannot escape the responsibility.

The man who likes a warm fire will see much merit in the idea of watching his Klondike investments from the Wisconsin end of the line.

Miss Teeters—Don't you think that women are qualified to become members of congress, Mr. Spatts?

Mr. Spatts—They are qualified to become members of the senate, at all events.

"Because I think that women senators could give away the secrets of the executive sessions quite as well as the men."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

RULES AGAINST BEST IN THE $12,500 CASE

ILLINOIS SUPREME COURT RE- VERSES JUDGEMENT.

Finding of the Chicago Court is Not Sustained—Judgment Reversed and the Case Sent Back For a New Trial—Conjecture as to the Reason.

At Ottawa, Ill., yesterday the Illinois supreme court ruled in favor of the defendant in the case of Clifford P. Best vs. the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis railroad. This involves the $12,500 judgment allowed by Judge Goggin of Chicago.

The case will again be taken into the Chicago courts by the plaintiff's attorneys, Winans & Russell and Rager & Norcross.

The plaintiff, it will be remembered, lost one of his legs and a portion of his remaining foot in a wreck five years ago a few miles from Indianapolis. After remaining in a hospital several weeks he recovered enough to allow his removal to his home in this city.

The railroad company claimed he was riding without a ticket and refused to pay damages. Suit was thus commenced in the superior court at Chicago.

The sum asked was $25,000 and the judgment was given for $12,500.

The railroad company then took the case to the Illinois court of appeals where the judgment was sustained.

The last appeal was to the Illinois supreme court where the case has been hanging fire for several weeks.

No details are given in the dispatch from Ottawa, which merely states that the finding has been reversed, and the case remanded for a new trial. Attorneys for the plaintiff are inclined to believe, however, that the reversal was ordered on some defect in the instructions by the court to the jury, possibly a failure to submit some essential question.

It is not believed to involve any question as to the size of the judgment. This question cannot be raised under the Illinois practice after a case has passed the appellate court.

PARENTS STOP FOOT BALL

Janesville-Madison Game Cancelled on Account of Enforced Withdrawals

The high school foot ball team has been compelled to cancel the game with the Madison high school scheduled for next Friday, and it is announced that the reason is the enforced retirement of several of the best players at the command of parents. The game was looked forward to with much interest. Madison has the best high school team in the country this year and the local high school team could not have hoped to do better than to score, but it was believed that much would be gained from the experience of such a game. It would have been a hard fought game, and there was an unwillingness on the part of parents to have their sons brought home in sections. This was the only obstacle but it seems to have been an effective one.

SURPRISE ON GEO. DECKER

Friends Gather at His Home—One Guest Was Also Surprised

There was a surprise party on George Decker last evening, about thirty friends being present. The evening was passed at progressive euchre. Later there was a surprise for one of the guests, M. E. Hilton, who had been instrumental in arranging the surprise on Mr. Decker. Mr. Hilton found that his team had broken away and could not be found. He made up his mind that it must have gone toward town and about midnight found that it had been stopped on the bridge and was in Nelson's livery stable.

TWO AUCTION SALES TODAY

Sheriff Acheson Disposes of Grimes and Wehler Residence Property.

Sheriff Acheson was kept busy as auctioneer in front of the postoffice this morning. The Grimes residence on Gold street was sold, to settle the estate. The property is on lot 4, block 29, of Smith's addition, and the title of the proceedings under which the sale was made was: John W. Hogan as guardian, versus Maggie Coleman, Agnes Grimes, Lillian Grimes and Kittie Kennedy. Officer John Coleman of the Chicago police force, has been in the city for a few days, representing his wife's interest in the estate.

The second sale conducted by Sheriff Acheson was that of the Wehler residence in Milwaukee's addition, which was disposed of to satisfy a judgment of foreclosure and was bid in by Charles J. Wehler for $1,200.

HORSE WAS BURNED IN THE O'HARA BARN

FIRE ON HICKORY STREET THIS AFTERNOON.

Barn on the Daniel O'Hara Place is Discovered in Flames and is Destroyed Before Any of the Contents Could Be Saved—Loss Amounts To $500.

Daniel O'Hara's barn in the rear of 152 Hickory street was discovered to be in flames at 3:15 this afternoon. Before the alarm was given all was ablaze. Inside was a horse and buggy belonging to John D. O'Hara. It was impossible to save either, the horse being dead before the barn was seen to be afire.

Besides the horse and buggy considerable hay and grain were destroyed.

The loss is about $500 with insurance amounting to $100.

The origin of the fire is a mystery, as nobody had been seen about the barn since noon. Mr. O'Hara was in the house only a short distance away, but knew nothing of the fire until the barn was half gone.

The horse burned was a much valued family pet, raised by J. D. O'Hara from a colt.

A quantity of carpenter's tools belonging to William O'Hara had been stored in the barn and were destroyed.

A PSALM OF LOVE.

Dreadful and lovely, very stern and kind,
Came a vast angel, winnowing down the wind.
A raiment as of lightnings veiled his form,
And when he spoke his whisper drowned the storm.

I cried and fell before him on the ground,
"Love, love the long desired, at last is found!"
Then swiftly sped to clasp his awful feet,
Knowing that love, though linked with death,
were sweet.

But he laughed loud across the breathless air:
"Fool, draw not near me! Knowest thou not despair?"
Yet, unappalled to find my fate, I came
And would have come unshodden over flame.

Wherefore he, smiling, murmured in mine ear,
"Learn, thou whose love of love has cast out fear,
Love is despair, since love began to be,
But love's new name awaits eternity."

Since then we twain across the lands have trod,
As o'er the Syrian fields men walked with God.
O love eternal, sacred still despair,
Awful and gracious, most austere, fair!
—G. A. D. in Bookman.

SHE PAID THE BET.

She left the city on Feb. 22. Her friends all wondered at this sudden move and into the country at this ungodly season. No one knew why, but all had their theories.

She gave a luncheon the day before and received a telegram at the table, so the girls said, and as she opened it a very peculiar, half mirthful, half sad expression came into her face.

"Well, girls, I am going away tonight for three or four weeks."

"Why, for goodness' sake, you're to lead the german tonight at King's."

"No. Tonight I'll be away from here. I don't quite know where, but I'm going anyhow. Won't you have some more of this ice, Lucille?"

This was the source whence originated their numerous and varied conclusions. That night at the german it was the theme of conversation. The pretty girls were glad because young Mrs. Page was popular; the stupid ones were glad because it actually gave them something to talk about, and before the festivities were over the ears of the poor departed must have burned like fire. In the meantime she telephoned down to Jack's office: "Hello! Is that you, Jack?"

"Yes, dear."

"Well, you'll be surprised, but I'm going away."

"Going? Where?"

"Down the river somewhere, I guess. I'll take Marie. Why? Oh, it's just a whim, Jack, but I know you'll let me go."

"I don't suppose it would make much difference what I wanted."

"Now, Jack—well, the train leaves at 5:04. You needn't come up here. Be down at the depot and have some money for me. Goodbye. See you later. Got to get my things ready."

She didn't go to get her things ready, but she told Marie to. She sat down in a big chair and thought it all over.

"I suppose they'll all think I'm crazy, and what on earth shall I tell Jack? Oh, I'll get to the station late; then there won't be time to say anything. Great heavens, only a year ago and how different things were! That whole day comes back to me now like a dream, and I'd actually almost forgot about it. But somehow when I made that bet I felt as though I would lose it. I'm married; so I've lost. Cut my eyebrow off and send him the picture! How silly! But I'm game. I'll do it. Oh, dear, won't I be ugly without an eyebrow? I wonder where he is now. Poor boy! He really did love me and I—"

"Madame had better be dressing. The trunk is packed, and it is half past 4."

"Have you ordered the carriage?"

"It's ready, madame."

"Hello, Jack! Nearly missed it, didn't I?"

"For heaven's sake, Edith, where are you going?"

"Oh, my, there goes the whistle! I'll write you all about it, Jack. Goodbye. Be good." And the astonished Jack stood just where Edith left him till the train was out of sight.

"Marie, look in my coat pocket and get me that telegram. Thanks. Let's see. Why, he isn't in California at all! Chicago! What on earth is he doing there do you suppose?"

"Did madame speak?"

"No. Go and read."

"After all, this is very foolish, but it's sort of fun to be foolish, anyhow. Poor Jack! I really ought to love him more; he is so good to me. Oh, pshaw! Why can't people have money and brains and all things that I like combined? Now, Beardsley would have been so nice if he hadn't been poor. I nearly thought he was nice, anyhow. Who's whistling that tune? I haven't heard it for—dear me, I'm getting sentimental! But here we are!

"I want a hotel out of town where I can be very quiet."

"Chateau Rouge, ma'am, just the place. Only one man in the whole hotel, and he don't bother no one. He goes moonin' round all day. We're 'arf afraid he's a-goin' ter do suthin' desperit. He—"

"Well, never mind. Get my bags. I'm anxious to see the place."

"Is this it? Oh, Marie, isn't it lovely? We can be so nice and quiet here! No, I won't come down to dinner. You needn't either, Marie. Both meals sent up, please. Yes."

That night, after long and loving looks at that fatal eyebrow, she seized Jack's razor, which she had deliberately brought with her for the purpose, and, with a gasp of resolution, it was off.

"Oh, you beauty, you fool! Suppose it doesn't grow again. Suppose it grows white. But what's the good of caring? I'm going to bed. I'm dead. Then I can wake up in the morning and worry all over again."

She woke up, though, before the morning—just in the middle of the quiet night.

"What's that? Who on earth can be playing the banjo at this unearthly hour? It must be the jilted man, and he's playing 'Answer.' He must be right near here. Oh, heavens, I can't stand that song! I've heard it too many times when I haven't been alone, and minus an eyebrow besides. Playing the banjo too. Isn't it strange? I wonder who he is? Marie, Marie, please go knock at that man's door and ask if he would mind not playing any more this evening. I'm very tired and can't sleep. What did he say?"

"He just spoke through the door like."

"Thank you, Marie. Go to bed now."

Edith didn't wake up till very late in the day, but when she did it was with that peculiar consciousness of another person in the room, and there was—but only Marie. She stood and stared and gaped at Edith, a half idiotic, half frightened smile on her wondering countenance.

"What are you staring at, you imbecile! Go down stairs. I'll dress myself."

For nearly a week Edith staid in her room, being particularly occupied picking something off the floor or dozing with the newspaper over her face when the servants came in. She didn't hear the banjo any more and completely forgot the little incident. Her restless spirit revolted, however, at the solitary confinement and she resolved to break it.

"Who cares for a lovesick man who probably wouldn't notice whether I had any eyes at all or not? I'm going out. Marie, my hat and veil."

She started off, and before long had gone farther than she imagined. She sat down for rest and meditation. These, however, were soon disturbed by a cracking twig and a footstep very close. Of course she turned round, but was hardly prepared for the eyes that returned her astonished gaze.

"Where did you come from?" was the simultaneous exclamation.

"Beardsley!"

"Edith."

"Yes, Edith."

"Edith, what are you doing in this out of the way place? I thought you were in New York."

"After your telegram? Look."

"And you did this?"

"Looks like it, doesn't it? That's what I'm doing here—waiting for it to grow. Well, if I never believed in fatalism before I do now. Isn't it the funniest thing you ever heard of? What are you doing here yourself?"

"Just thinking of a year ago. Do you know, Edith, it's just a year ago today since you went away? There's another coincidence. But I must not stay here. I regret seeing you more than I can tell—yes, regret it. Don't look at me that way. I mean it, every word of it. For a year now my life has been—well, a blank, my work poor, my ambition gone. And for what? Because the woman I loved to the limit of myself, and who professed to love me six months after we had been parted, was married to another. That's why I regret. Do you understand? Tell me, Edith, did you ever really imagine you loved me, or were you just killing time while you were waiting to go away?"

"Beardsley, how can you? I married, yes. And no man could love me more or be kinder to me than Jack. I feel wicked and guilty sometimes that I do not love him more, but he knows it, and—"

"So you married without loving him? Edith, this is worse than I thought. I—but I must leave here tonight. I forgive you, yes—and God bless you, little woman. I hope you will be happy. Goodbye." And before Edith could speak she was alone.

"He didn't give me a chance to say a word," she said to herself.

She walked back to the hotel feeling quite light and queer in the head. She went up stairs and slept. She woke up a few hours later in a high fever. She grew delirious. Jack was sent for. He was a little puzzled at some of Edith's ravings and her smooth shaven brow, to which she alluded constantly, but by the time she was well enough to talk the eyebrow had nearly grown. Jack spoke of it once.

"Just to watch it grow. I used to do it all the time." About her sudden departure: "Just a whim, Jack. I—"

Then she had an awful pain in her head and had to lie down.

She came back to New York again and was just as popular as ever, only her friends imagined she had grown older and more dignified. "So married," one girl said.—New York Sun.

Queer Advertisement for Six Fingered People. A Chicago Professor Gets 155 Answers

Not long ago a professor of the University of Chicago advertised in a morning paper of that city for information concerning hexadactylous or six fingered people. He has received 155 answers from six toed or fingered people. Few persons can reckon upon an affliction of six malapies at once, but there are multitudes afflicted with biliousness whom Hostetter's Stomach Bitters would speedily restore to perfect health. Biliousness is usually complicated with constipation and dyspepsia, all these maladies being promptly remedied by the aid of the Bitters, which also overcomes and prevents malarial complaints, rheumatism, nervousness and inactivity of the kidneys and bladder. Life's turmoils and anxieties often wear out the most vigorous constitution even early in life, and induce premature decay of the vital energies. The most genial promoter of physical stamina in existence is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

There is a style, a fit, a grace of outline and a general chick appearance of their own that is found only in high priced custom made clothing of the metropolitan shops. All this goes to the man who wears ZEIGLER clothing, and yet the price is ONE-THIRD less than suits made to measure. A reputation as the foremost makers of clothing in the United States is not an easy matter to gain. ZEIGLER has this reputation.

COATS FOR GIRLS.

SILK WAISTS.

We show the nobbiest line in town, among them being some of the higher class that are gems of the cloak makers' art—exclusive styles direct from New York. A line for Misses' wear in sizes 14, 16 and 18 also in stock.

Coats for Girls.

Three hundred sample Coats for Misses, sizes 14, 16, 18 and 20 years, inexpensive garments for school wear that are proper as regards style and make up. Cute Coats, ranging in price from $3 to $10, that would ordinarily be one-third more. Tell the girls to call in after school and see them.

Silk Waists

There is an air about the line we handle that attracts. Other stores show waists, but there is something lacking in them when compared to ours. The talk of the town among women is the excellence of our waist showings. All the latest in blouse effects are in the line.

Cloak Business is Big.

Such excellent styles as we show are the talk of the town. Three sample lines lately added to the stock make a display not equaled in the state. For misses there are many new things not found elsewhere. Our way of buying enables us to sell garments one third less than regular prices. In buying Cloaks from us you get the productions of the best makers in America. Make no mistake by not seeing first how well you can do in this department.

Sable Fibre Cloth Blankets.

Something new; look at them. Endorsed by the medical profession. These Blankets are manufactured from the fibre of spruce trees. They are non-porous, hence cannot absorb impurities; require no laundering; and can be brushed clean with a wisp broom. They are inexpensive and durable and will last for years. Price, 75c.

MILLINERY—No place in the store is livelier than the millinery room. Nobbiest ideas in town are here shown. The majority of stylish headwear which attract you are productions of this department. We couple correct style with moderate prices.

We sell Dry Goods cheaper than any store in the State.

ARCHIE REID & CO.

How She Classified Her.

"She is such a plump, fine-looking girl," said her admirer.
"It is evident to even a casual observer that she is an extraordinarily healthy girl," admitted her rival.
But there was that in her tone that made the admirer look up inquiringly.
"I have the authority of a learned doctor for the statement that a real healthy girl is almost invariably awkward."
And thereafter that admirer never discussed that subject with that rival.—Chicago Post.

A Conclusive Demonstration.

"Peacock feathers and shells are considered unlucky, are they not?" inquired the lady who is writing a book on superstitions.
"I dunno about peacock feathers being unlucky," replied Mrs. Cornstossel.
"But I know shells is, because last week Josiah lost $11 in a game that was played with 'em."—Washington Star.

The Proper Thing.

Clerk—I wouldn't like to cut this piece of lace just for one yard, madam; and, besides, that isn't enough to trim anything.

Shopper—Oh! I didn't want it for trimming; but it's so nice to have a piece of lace around the house as an heirloom, you know?—Puck.

And He Couldn't Have Both.

Stokeleigh—Why don't you get married, old man?
Brokeleigh—Debarred by custom.
Stokeleigh—How so?
Brokeleigh—Well, while it is permissible for me to appear in public without a wife, it is not permissible for me to do so without clothes.—Brooklyn Life.

A Valuable Indorsement.

"Isn't the butter rather strong to-day, Mrs. Small?" asked the star boarder.
"It may be, Mr. Hunker," was the landlady's suave reply, "but if it is, that fact only establishes its genuineness. Imitation butter never gets strong."—Town Topics.

Her Reason.

Penelope—But you always decried marriage.
Marie—And I do yet.
Penelope—Then why are you going to get married?
Marie—You don't suppose I want the girls to think I can't, do you?—N. Y. Truth.

He Knew Himself.

Miss Vanderwhack—Now, will you listen to me while I tell you the plain truth, Cholly?
Cholly Fiveo'clock—I'm all ears, Miss Vanderwhack.
Miss Vanderwhack—That's just what I was going to say, only I was going to put it differently.—Town Topics.

Unjust Discrimination.

"I say it's unfair," exclaimed the portly dame who was looking over the society column. "In writing up the receptions they don't give me any more space than they do that skinny little Mrs. Whackster!"—Chicago Tribune.

Too Lovely for Anything.

Ella—I don't like St. Louis at all. I was there for a whole week last summer and never saw a single attractive thing.
Jack—That's strange. I didn't know there was a looking-glass famine in that village.—Chicago News.

Disputing the Master.

"The richest fruits first fall," the Bard of Avon said.
But I take issue with him there; The fruit that has the worms inside Is first to tumble through the air.
—Cleveland Leader.

LITERAL OBEDIENCE.

Doctor—What, taking a bath! Why, you will kill yourself, man.

Patient—But, doctor, you told me to take the pills in water.—Punchinello.

This May Not Be True.

We often hear of "mother tongue," But not a thing is heard About the father tongue, because He can't get in a word.
—Chicago News.

His Status.

City Man (among the Allegash hills)—Your neighbor, Deacon Shellbark, is pretty—ah—"close," isn't he?
Abner Appledry—Close? He's too blamed stingy to entertain his own opinions.—N. Y. Journal.

The Doctor's Mission.

She—Who's sick at your house?
He—No one.
"Why, I thought I saw the doctor's carriage at your door, this morning?"
"You did. He was there trying to collect a bill."—Yonkers Statesman.

The Safest Way.

Borax (reflectively)—I wish I knew how to tell a woman's age.
Samjones—The best way to tell it is in a soft and gentle whisper.—N. Y. Truth.

J. C. Berry, one of the best known citizens of Spencer, Mo., testifies that he cured himself of the worst kind of piles by using a few boxes of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. He had been troubled with piles for over thirty years and had used many different kinds of so-called cures, but DeWitt's was the one that did the work and he will verify this statement if any one wishes to write him. C. D. Stevens.

The Dog and the Bicycle.

The bicycle has come to stay, and we have nothing to say against it, but we sometimes observe a piece of thoughtlessness on the part of cyclists the cruelty of which ought not to mar an innocent and healthful exercise. The cyclist can run farther and faster than any horse that was ever foaled, but he sometimes forgets that what is easy for himself and impossible for the horse may be almost deadly to the dog. Cyclists should leave their dogs at home. The ordinary rate at which they move with perfect ease, say eight or ten miles an hour, and which they keep up easily for hours together, is beyond a dog's powers, and even when they go more slowly the occasional spurt which they are sure to make taxes the dog to its utmost.

We have been grieved to see not a few poor dogs painfully following their masters, or, more commonly, their mistresses, with signs of manifest distress, and this, we are sure, with no purpose of cruelty on the owner's part, but through sober thoughtlessness. May we not, then, ask cyclists to remember that the dog is not a fit companion on a wheel ride?—Our Animal Friends.

The Pleasures of Seasickness.

Mrs. Benham—Can't I get you something, dear?
Benham—No; tell me how to keep what I've got.—Town Topics.

The Only Reason.

"There goes a woman who never adds postscripts to her letters."
"How do you know?"
"She can't write."—Chicago Record.

Innocent Tommy.

Father—Tommy, stop pulling that cat's tail.
Tommy—I'm only holding the tail; the cat's pulling it.—Tit-Bits.

You can't cure consumption but you can avoid it and cure every other form of throat or lung trouble by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. C. D. Stevens.

In Chicago.

"I wish a pair of rubbers."
"What displacement, miss?"—N. Y. Truth.

Excursion Rates to Chicago.

On account of the American fat stock, horse, poultry and dairy shows at Chicago, November 2nd to 13th inclusive, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Ry. will sell excursion tickets Tuesdays and Thursdays during the continuance of the shows at a fare and one third for the round trip good for return until Monday following date of sale. Fox chasing and the hurdle races will be among the main attractive features.

J. M. Thirswend, of Grosbeck, Tex., says that when he has a spell of indigestion, and feels bad and sluggish, he takes two of De Witt's Little Early Risers at night, and he is all right the next morning. Many thousands of others do the same thing. Do you? C. D. Stevens.

Excursion Tickets to American Fat Stock Horse Poultry and Dairy Shows, Chicago, Nov. 2-13.

Via the Northwestern Line, will be sold at reduced rates, each Tuesday and Thursday during the show, limited to Monday following date of sale. Apply to agents Chicago & Northwestern R'y.

Who are injured by the use of coffee. Recently there has been placed in all the grocery stores a new preparation called GRAIN-O, made of pure grains, that takes the place of coffee. The most delicate stomach receives it without distress, and but few can tell it from coffee. It does not cost over 1/4 as much. Children may drink it with great benefit. 15c and 25c. per package. Try it. Ask for GRAIN-O.

SUNSHINE HEATER, $13.75.
Celebrated for its beauty and excellence, very latest pattern; a thorough heater and economical in the use of fuel; many higher price stoves not so desirable.

: WE LEAD; : WE DON'T FOLLOW.

In these days of business hustle it is a considerable matter for a concern to be the leaders of the trades they represent in a community. THE LEADER has this distinction to its credit. LEADER prices are not in comparison with others. There are many dealers who can give you plenty of bluff, but they can't meet LEADER prices and qualities. You will find almost any article from a needle to a diamond at THE LEADER. Thousands of dollars invested in goods that the public need, at beneficial prices.

The very best Western Washers 40% less than others ask you; our price $2.25. Guaranteed Wringers, finest rubber rolls, $1.25 each. Tubs, Pails, Wash Boards, at prices that defy competition. ∴ LEADER stove prices are 35 to 40% lower than others. Nobody to thank but THE LEADER for cheapening stove prices.

OAK ACORN.
Air tight, steel body, flat draw center grate, hard or soft coal, or wood.

ACORN AND SUNSHINE STOVES ARE AS GOOD AS THE BEST MADE.

There is no fake in THE LEADER'S stove sales. We have sold three cars this season and have almost finished the fourth. Our stove register verifies our assertions. It's open to inspection. Price cuts the ice, makes stove buyers come to us, the same as buyers of all other lines. LEADER prices are revelations in lowness.

THE LEADER.

H. FREIDMAN, Proprietor.

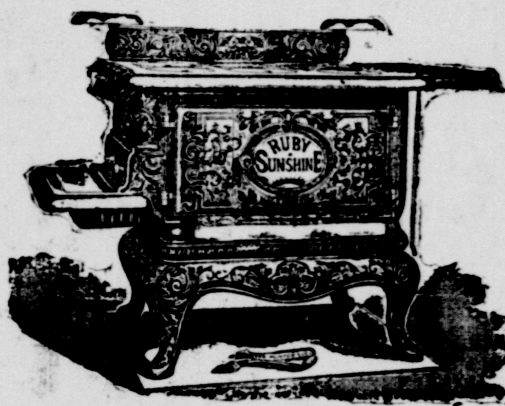

Corner Milwaukee and Franklin Streets.

IMPERIAL ACORN,
$19.86. A marvel of beauty in design, finish, style, and fuel economizing; it embodies all the best and latest ideas in base heaters, and has stood the test of years.

DUPLEX ACORN RANGE,
$12.35. For hard coal or wood; extra size duplex grate; large oven sheet flues; beautifully ornamented and heavily nickel-plated; the "best for the money," and is so recognized.

RUBY SUNSHINE, $14.95.
Six hole cast range—18-in. oven, swing shelf and tie hief—perfect baker, for hard or soft coal.

RANGE, $10.00.
Guaranteed to be a perfect baker; oven is square, with nickel pane, and outside shelf; highly nickel-plated bright work; a beautiful hard coal range with modern improvements.

EMPIRE ACORN.
Handsomely trimmed and a heater worth double the price.

A Cold Day When There Are Flies ON US, OR BEES IN OUR BUNNETS.

WE keep going pretty fast to let anything catch us—even competition. Each day finds us busy as the preceding one.

Stove business Is wonderful:::

This year. We catch most every prospective Stove buyer; a few of them get away, not many though. People always look around among all the Stove stocks in the city, but they finally land at the really only complete stock in Southern Wisconsin. OUR SALES AVERAGE ONE CARLOAD OF STOVES A WEEK. We are busy as bees, and intend, as we always have, to keep prices low enough to hold every purchaser.

So many people are in doubt when they buy anything—even a 5c purchase. All feeling of this kind is dispelled in your Stove purchases at our store; there is no room for doubt.

WE picked seven makes of Stoves as our sellers—not one of them with a fault—and every one a gem for the house:

Garlands,

Over three millions in use.

Jewels,

Over two millions in use.

Jewetts,

Three and one-half millions in use.

Red Cross, Round Oak, Riverside Oak.

SEVEN OF THE WORLD'S BEST MAKES.

We show the greatest line of SECOND HAND STOVES in the city, all prices and all kinds, cooking and heating.

LARGE washings with half the work can be done with the . . . . .

Western Washer : : : AND THE.... Bicycle Ball Bearing Wringer.

Blessings they are to womankind. Have you looked into the good points of GILT EDGE FURNACES? Don't fail to if you have an idea of Furnace buying, A busy store, but time enough to attend to your wants.

LOWELL HARDWARE COMPANY.

Back of Old Stand.
